

Marshall County Economic Development

About Us

We welcome you to Marshall County, Kentucky, where opportunities abound. We take pride in the many assets of our community as well as the strength and success of our existing industry. Our mission at Kentucky Lake Economic Development is to retain, expand, and attract quality worldwide manufacturing, distribution, and service industries to our community.

A northern border stretching along the Tennessee River, impeccable interstate and roadway systems, access to the Paducah & Louisville Railway, and a thriving industry and business friendly environment are just a few examples of how we can get you there in Marshall County, Kentucky.

Customers and Suppliers in Nashville, Memphis, Atlanta, St. Louis, Chicago, and Cincinnati are all within a few hours' drive. Marshall County's central location among these major Metro areas makes access easy whether by river, road, or rail.

Among our opportunities for business and industry you will also find a quality public school system, a low crime rate, affordable housing, community pride, and plenty of recreational opportunities on the shores and waterways of beautiful Kentucky Lake.

We are excited to have you visit Opportunity Marshall and stand ready to assist you and your industry on additional information important to your locating or expanding in Marshall County, Kentucky.